A horizontal bar chart comparing the percentage of respondents who believe the government should do more to protect the environment, categorized by age group and gender. The chart is divided into two main sections: 'Age Group' on the left and 'Gender' on the right. Each section contains three bars representing different age groups: 18-29, 30-49, and 50-69. The bars are color-coded: blue for 18-29, orange for 30-49, and green for 50-69. The y-axis represents the percentage of respondents, ranging from 0% to 100% in 10% increments. The x-axis represents the percentage of respondents who believe the government should do more to protect the environment. The chart shows that younger age groups generally have higher percentages of respondents who believe the government should do more to protect the environment, and that this trend is consistent across both age groups and gender.
